How to use AnyMirror? AnyMirror app allows you to mirror Android screen to a computer for offline use. The software is designed to run on Windows 7 and later and provide users with an easy and convenient way to view Android apps on a Windows desktop. Launching AnyMirror is easy, simply go to your Windows desktop and plug-in the AnyMirror program using the USB cable. The AnyMirror program will then appear on your desktop along with your Android device which we will connect in a few steps. After the successful connection, you can launch the AnyMirror program for the first time. Follow the on-screen prompts to setup and configure the AnyMirror program. Next, launch your favorite Android app on the Android device. To launch the Android app, hold down the Home key on the Android device. While holding down the Home key, double-tap on the Android app you want to start. AnyMirror will launch the Android app and make it appear on your Windows desktop. AnyMirror will then list your apps under three sections - Apps, Documents and Videos. Apps are the apps on the Android device. If you tap the Apps section, any apps currently installed on the Android device will be listed on your Windows desktop. Documents are the files on your Android device. These files can be text files, images, or any other type of file. If you tap on the Documents section, any files saved on the Android device will be listed on your Windows desktop. Videos are the videos on the Android device. These videos can be music videos, movies, TV shows, or any other videos. If you tap on the Videos section, any

System Requirements:

Supported Operating Systems: Windows XP Windows Vista Windows 7 Windows 8 Windows 10
Minimum Requirements: Processor: 2 GHz RAM: 512 MB OS: Windows XP SP2 My explanation for this is because of the graphical nature of the app, you may have to spend some time to really get the hang of it. Notable different: there's no rotation of the display. Ok, how about some details? It's 5.0 overall, which, even though it
