Ion Storm Complete Pack Pack is not working.. My Little Pony:.Q: How to get a start point of an ongoing animation in JavaScript? Let's say I have a click animation like so: `var element = document.getElementById("hide-button"); element.addEventListener("click", function() { element.classList.add("animating-elements"); setTimeout(function() { element.classList.remove("animating-elements"); }, 3000);` Now I want to make a function that gets the start time of this animation, like so: `function animateClick() { var startTime =... }` I have tried the following but I don't know how to access the start time of the animation (i.e. the new value of "startTime"). `element.classList.add("animating-elements");`
A: First, it sounds like you want a function that is running for more than one "click" in your application. If that's the case, all you need to do is add the event listener to the element every time you click and then unlisten to it when you're done. If you don't want to unlisten to it, you can also run the function, set a timeout to remove the listener after the timeout expires, and then you're all set. `var element = document.getElementById("hide-button"); element.addEventListener("click", function() { element.classList.add("animating-elements"); setTimeout(function() { element.classList.remove("animating-elements"); }, 3000); }); var animateClick = function() { var startTime = Date.now(); } 595f342e71`
