Let me introduce you to iWish. You already know from other posts that iWish is a powerful, easy to use text editor for Android. But my colleagues and I have just developed yet another powerful feature: "Backups". Backup is a simple, but rather important, tool that will help you to store your data in a safe and secure way. It allows you to keep a "copy" of your data and restore it later. The new backup feature is not only just a simple backup and restore tool. It also helps you to migrate your apps and all your data across to new devices in an easy way. Backups are very easy to use: - Select a backup file - Click "Backup" - Click "restore" to restore your backup Because the backup part is so easy, you can use it to migrate your apps and your data from your phone to a new device. You can create backup files for your apps, contacts, themes, wallpapers, ringtones, mails, call logs, SMS, apps and profiles. You can also select a file that will be used to migrate your apps from your phone to a new device or from your phone to an emulator. And yes, you can also create backup files for all your apps, contact details and profile settings. The new feature also offers you to activate some fancy options: * The data will be grouped * Multiple backups per date * Backup and restore only on the SD card (no internal storage) * Battery drain values (in %) * Reset data to original factory settings This will allow you to control how your data behaves, when data is restored and when it will be removed, and you can also set a schedule to sync your data. Now take a look at this video:

That is why most patients suffer from symptoms with great impact on the daily life. The patient is first examined by a general practitioner or internist. In the third and fourth part of the aorta there is a large need for a simultaneous evaluation of the arteries of the legs and the abdominal aorta. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a double saddle-type of a card transporting apparatus which is mounted on an automatic printer for transporting and selectively ejecting an original or an image carrier for recording thereon an image based on electric signals of a video signal. More particularly, the present invention relates to a card transporting apparatus for use in an automatic printer which is capable of automatically transporting only the front or rear edge portion of a card but not capable of handling a card with a slanted edge portion without any inclination. 2. Description of the Prior Art There is generally known a card transporting apparatus for an automatic printer which is designed to transport and selectively eject a card including at least front and rear edges, and of which card body includes one edge portion formed with a projecting portion. Such a card transporting apparatus is arranged to transport only a card with a straight edge portion by the projecting portion. Specifically, the projecting portion of the card is hooked by the card transporting apparatus at a position whereat the card is transported in a direction perpendicular to the direction of transportation of the card and in a direction parallel with the direction of transportation of the card. The projecting portion is then pulled or pushed in a direction perpendicular to the direction of transportation of the card to detach the card from the card transporting apparatus. In this connection, since the projecting portion is formed with a projecting angle different from a right angle, the projecting portion itself is subjected to a tensile force in a direction perpendicular to the direction of transportation of the card. As a result, a top edge of the card is inclined. Because of the inclined top edge, the card is not smoothly transported and simultaneously, it is difficult to insert the card by the projecting portion of the card into a card introducing space of a printing machine.Q: Android - Switch Activity from different threads I am having a problem with the code below: public class MainActivity extends Activity{ Runnable task1; Runnable task2; Runnable task3;
